DEMPSEY WINS

Healed with humanity, but, unlike an ordinary saucer, it was filled from brim down instead of from the bottom up. The first to arrive was the gallery god with a periscope eye who camped all night outside the arena for the privilege of paying Richard $5.50.

Travelers who landed on Host Richard's seventh circle seats rimming the amphitheatre came as for a race track, with glasses to span the 300 feet to the ring. Many carried as part equipment sun glasses, no pair of pillows, and sandwiches upon. The fans were as numerous as the wings of the famous Jersey "sheeters" that also volplaned to Doyle's Thirty Acres.

OUTSIDE THE ARENA, Jersey City, July 2.—The elite of the fight crowd began moving toward the arena at noon. A party of 20, including several United States senators, was the guest of W. C. Taggart, president of the Standard Oil company. Members of the party arrived from Washington early and made the trip in one of the Standard Oil tugs. Packey McFarland, former lightweight, also chartered a tug to carry across a party of friends.

The real scramble for the arena started soon after the noon hour. "Crowds pouring from office buildings of lower Manhattan and up-town hotels and on late trains began a concerted attack on ferries and boats. Comparatively few persons were turned away for present counterfeits tickets. Three young men who claimed they purchased $25 tickets at a prominent New York hotel were informed they were not genuine when they reached the gate. They were allowed to enter the arena after purchasing tickets at the box office.

ARENA, July 2.—At 2:57 p. m. Carpenter came into the ring, and two minutes later Dempsey came in. Dempsey greeted Carpenter with a friendly "Hello, Georges," when they shook hands in the center of the ring.

Helkes is some chauffeur, and says he regrets very much that he did not enter his rusty fiver in the recent 1000-mile race feeling that he would in his day and age be $1000 to the good.

RETIRED EDITOR HOLDS SERVICES FOR PET CANINE

(By Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Kan., July 2.—E. R. Humble, a retired editor and lecturer, conducted a funeral service over the body of Jiggs, a fox terrier dog, who came to his death when running to meet the car in which Frank Schultz and his family were returning to their home here.

The dog had been the constant companion of the Schultz children. It was Margaret, aged 5, who went to Mr. Humble with the request that he preach for Jiggs' funeral.

Mr. Humble said: "Poor Jiggs is dead. But he died happy in his love. That is more wonderful than I can tell you. And Jiggs will live in you. When you are grown, my children, you will often think of this faithful animal and wish that all men were like him—faithful unto death. Jiggs was a good dog. That is saying much. When the sun sinks in the west for me, I could ask no higher words of praise than those I have applied to him. To say he was good is highest praise."

NOTICE TO CONSUMERS

All light and power service in the Nevada district will be interrupted by a forced shut-down on the morning of July 4 for a period of from one to two hours, beginning at 8 a. m., in order to make necessary repairs to sub-station equipment.
